

The map displays the 11th Congressional District of California, which is shaded in light blue. The district is bounded by a thick red line. It contains 41 precincts, each labeled with a 'P' followed by a number (P1 through P41). The precincts are distributed across the district, with a higher concentration in the northern and western parts. Surrounding the 11th district are three other districts: District 5 (pink) to the north, District 13 (light green) to the east, and District 10 (light orange) to the south. The boundaries between these districts are also marked with thick red lines.
